In Puebla, we are proud to be doing a good job, providing the participants of the Free Trade Area of the Americas negotiations with the very best we have to offer. Likewise, it is a source of satisfaction to know that we are supporting efforts to create the largest free trade area in the world that will cover close to 815 million people and extend some 40 million square kilometers, from Alaska to Tierra del Fuego, Argentina.

Since March 2003, negotiators, delegates and participants in the FTAA process have been visiting and will continue to visit Puebla. All are welcomed with traditional “poblaro” hospitality.

Puebla, “UNESCO World Heritage Site”, land of abundance and generosity, and the birthplace of maize, while faithful to its ancient culture and traditions, is also a dynamic, modern city eager to build the future.

In Puebla we are prepared to assume the role of host city of the FTAA Permanent Headquarters. The people of Puebla understand and are ready to share the responsibility that the headquarters will represent for our continent. That is, we share the responsibility to promote prosperity through economic integration and free trade among the 34 member countries; eradicate poverty and discrimination in the region, and achieve justice and socially responsible businesses; improve transportation and work conditions; and guarantee democracy, prosperity, and social, cultural and sustainable development.

In Puebla, we have made it our goal to increase our international presence, and we are working hard to do just that. As they say in Mexico, “mi casa es su casa,” (my house is your house). Puebla is “su casa” and we welcome you with open arms.

Puebla, Mexico

History and Economic Data

Mexico

- Location

Mexico is strategically located in North America. It borders to the north with the United States of America and to the south with Belize and Guatemala, to the east with the Gulf of Mexico and the Caribbean Sea and to the west with the Pacific Ocean. In addition to continental Mexico, the Mexican Government has jurisdiction over several costal islands, making a total territory of 1,959,248 square km Its capital and largest city is Mexico City.

- History of Mexico

Mexico was inhabited by some of the most ancient and advanced civilizations of the Western hemisphere. Agricultural activity started around 5000 B.C.; some of the earliest crops included pumpkins, corn, beans and chile.

The first important Mesoamerican civilization was the Olmecs, who reached their splendor between 1500 and 600 B.C. The Mayan culture lived the peak of its civilization during the VI century. The warrior tribe known as the Toltecs migrated from the North and finally during the X century founded their empire in the valley of Mexico. They are considered to be the founders of the cities Tula and Tulancingo (north of modern-day Mexico City) and created great civilizations evidenced by the ruins of magnificent buildings and monuments they left behind.

- Political Stability

Mexico, according to its constitution, is a representative, democratic, and federal republic, governed by three powers: the executive, the legislative and judicial branches. The country consists of independent and sovereign States united in a federation established according to the principles of the Mexican Constitution.¹

- Mexico is a democratic nation that enjoys great political, economic, and social stability.
- Numerous international businesses are based in Mexico, aware of the advantages and business opportunities that a stable Mexico has to offer.
- In addition to its stability, Mexico has established the largest network of free-trade agreements in the world precisely to offer businesses the opportunity to do business and be competitive.

▪ Macroeconomic Stability of Mexico

11 free trade agreements with 32 different countries

Since Mexico's accession to the GATT (Now the World Trade Organization (WTO) in 1986, Mexico has taken great steps forward to become an active player in the world economy. To reach this goal it set in motion a process of economic liberalization and today is a recognized force in the global economy, and the third largest trade partner of the United States.

Conscious of worldwide trends, Mexico has made one of its basic goals to promote trade relations with other countries. For example, since 1994, the North American Free Trade Agreement (NAFTA) has attracted more than USD 110 billion in foreign direct investment to Mexico.²

Mexico has become the driving economic force in Latin America. According to WTO statistics, Mexico is the eighth largest exporter in the world and the largest in Latin America (2003).

Puebla

▪ Location

Puebla is located in the center of the country and borders with the following states: Mexico, Tlaxcala, Hidalgo, Veracruz, Oaxaca, Guerrero and Morelos. Its landscape is mountainous and dominated by volcanos like Iztaccihuatl and Popocatepetl. The state has an abundance of forests and fertile land, rivers, lagoons, springs, and reservoirs. Its diverse climate, ecosystems and agricultural products are the result of its complex, mountainous geography.

▪ History of Puebla

The region was inhabited by the Toltecs, Chichimecs, and Xicalanc Olmecs; by the X century Nahua tribes had arrived and up until the XV century the Mexicas dominated almost the entire area of what is known today as the State of Puebla. The Spanish conquest had a far-reaching impact on the region, with the founding of Puebla de los Ángeles, one of the best examples of baroque architecture anywhere and one of Mexico's true architectural and cultural gems. The Spaniards also had a significant influence on local handicrafts, creating the famous Talavera pottery. Finally, Spanish influence left its mark on the local cuisine whose fusion of indigenous and Spanish influences created one of the richest and most varied culinary traditions in Mexico.

The State of Puebla is full of things to do and places to visit like Yohualichan and Cholula, towns that boast world-class archeological sites and a great variety of churches, in addition to pristine wilderness for camping, outdoor sports, spas, and recreation centers.

▪ Macroeconomic Stability of the State of Puebla

Puebla enjoys a stable political climate, hospitable inhabitants, and an ideal location for reaching the country's main markets and ports.

As the gateway to southeastern Mexico, Puebla serves as the region's showcase where all of its goods and services are on display. Since the city's founding 473 years ago and due to its geographic location, it plays an important role as a bridge connecting the central and eastern regions of the country. Puebla has also been a strategic state for trade between Europe and the Americas.

A.2 Puebla International Airport

A.2.1 Location of Hermanos Serdan International Airport

The Hermanos Serdan International Airport is located southeast of the Mexico City International Airport at kilometer 91.5 of the federal highway between Mexico and Puebla, It services central Mexico and is situated in the Puebla suburb of Huejotzingo.

The airport is situated in a strategically privileged location with direct access to southwest Mexico, and upon completion of the Regional "Gran Vision" Project, will be connected by land to the main seaports of the Gulf and the Pacific and have direct access to the highways leading to northern Mexico.

Puebla Has the Infrastructure Necessary to House the Permanent FTAA Headquarters:

- Puebla Hermanos Serdan International Airport, in Huejotzingo, providing both passenger and cargo flights as well as customs and immigration services with a special attention booth for FTAA members.
- Puebla is located just two hours from Mexico City International Airport, with 86 first-class busses running daily between Mexico City and Puebla.
- Puebla Hermanos Serdan International Airport is located 6.2 kilometers from the México-Puebla freeway.
- In an effort to improve access to the airport, the Puebla State Government is planning the construction of a modern thoroughfare "Bulevard Aeropuerto" that would connect it directly to the Mexico-Puebla freeway.

B. Ground Transportation

*Highways in Mexico:
365,119 Kms.*

B.1 State Highway System

Located in the heart of Mexico, Puebla has been a bridge between the capital and states of the southeast (where 30 percent of the country's population resides) and southwest. In other words Puebla is the driving force for development of south-central, southeast and southwest Mexico.

Strategically located 120 km from Mexico City, Puebla is linked to Veracruz, the country's busiest port, and the port of Acapulco and its internationally renowned beaches.

The State Highway System is fast becoming one of the main instruments for streamlining the production and distribution chains of goods sold nationally and traded internationally, while at the same time providing infrastructure for tourism.

Ongoing maintenance and upkeep of the State Highway System is a high priority in order to maintain roadways that provide adequate service to satisfy the transportation needs of people, goods, and merchandise safely, comfortably, and efficiently.

*Ongoing maintenance and upkeep of the State

cost and accidents*

B.2 Interregional Highways

B.2.1 Regional "Gran Vision" Project

Puebla is participating together with seven other states in the central and Gulf regions of the country in a development initiative known as the Regional "Gran Vision" Project.

The project is aimed at turning Central Mexico into an efficient link connecting northern, southern, eastern and western Mexico; and the Gulf Coast of Mexico with the Pacific Coast. Eight highways are under construction connecting Puebla to Cuernavaca, Cuautla, Acapulco, Toluca, Queretaro, Pachuca, and Guadalajara bypassing Mexico City altogether. Travel time to Jalapa, Veracruz, Tuxpan, and Poza Rica will be reduced considerably.

- The project will benefit a vast region covering 296,405 square km in seven states
- The roads connecting the Gulf and Pacific Coasts will pass through central Mexico
- The project will benefit some 40 million people in central Mexico
- The project will improve regional economic competitiveness

B.2.2 “Siglo XXI” Highway

The Federal government has agreed with the States of Morelos and Puebla to build the final 13.6 km of highway that will connect Puebla to Acapulco in 2005, reducing travel time to only 4 hours 15 minutes by car. Similarly, travel time between Puebla and Cuernavaca will reduced to 1 hour 45 minutes.

With these steps—the modernization of the Puebla International Airport and the Regional “Gran Vision” Project--Puebla is ready to host the permanent FTAA Headquarters.

B.3 Distances, Time, Cost and Frequency of Buses and Taxis from Mexico City International Airport to Downtown Puebla

The Mexico City International Airport has a bus terminal on the premises with five different bus lines servicing several major cities in Mexico.¹⁶

Sixteen different car rental companies¹⁷ have offices at the Mexico City Airport. In addition, convenient and safe taxi service is available.

C. Security

C.1 Political Stability

Mexico is a representative, democratic, federal republic governed by three branches of government—executive, legislative, and judicial. It is divided into free and sovereign states united under a federation established upon the principles of the country's Constitution.²²

Democratic government with full respect of citizens' rights

- Mexico is a democratic nation that enjoys great political, economic, and social stability.
- Numerous international businesses are based in Mexico, aware of the advantages and business opportunities that a stable Mexico has to offer.
- In addition to its stability, Mexico has established the largest network of free-trade agreements in the world (11 agreements with 32 countries) precisely to offer businesses the opportunity to do business and be competitive.

The State of Puebla ranks fourth in Mexico in specialized law enforcement training

Puebla is well prepared to meet the security needs of all FTAA participants by coordinating with local institutions, State and Federal agencies, embassies, and other organizations.²³

Puebla is committed to continuing to provide these services to ensure that the permanent headquarters continues to function smoothly. The city is frequently involved in fighting crime at the regional, national, and international levels. All law enforcement officers receive specialized training in kidnapping prevention, counterterrorism, crisis management, and VIP protection, among other topics.

²² Article 40, Constitution of the United Mexican States.

²³ Security coordinated by the State Council for Coordination with the National Law Enforcement System.

C.2 Statistics on the number of serious crimes per 100,000 Inhabitants

2003 Annual Statistics

Total Population of Puebla ²⁴ :	1,440,914 inhabitants
Serious crimes per 100, 000 inhabitants ²⁵ :	342 crimes

C.3 Security and Natural Disaster Preventive Measures for the Secretariat Headquarters, Staff and Delegates

C.3.1 "066" – Within Everyone's Reach

In Puebla, the emergency number is 066, through which any complaint, emergency, crime, or public security concern can be reported. Ongoing crime prevention efforts focus on community awareness and participation to prevent crime and increase public safety.

C.3.2 Permanent Security Presence at the FTAA Headquarters

Puebla has designed the "The Security Plan of Zacapoaxtla"²⁶, for protecting the FTAA Headquarters. The plan includes the participation of law enforcement institutions at each of the three levels of government.

The plan establishes and provides for:

- Rules of responsibility
- Security of facilities
- A permanent security post with the ability to communicate with all emergency services, 24 hours a day, 365 days a year
- Security for visiting Ministers and Vice Ministers

C.3.3 Civil Defense Program (Prevention, Emergency and Support Services)

One of the basic tasks of the Government of the State of Puebla is to protect the integrity and the lives of the participants of the Free Trade Area of the Americas negotiation.

Prevention, control and support during an emergency

Prevention is key for the protection of Secretariat personnel and FTAA delegates, for the protection of their belongings and work environment. The agency in charge of this is the Dirección de Protección Civil (Civil Defense Agency), which is part of the Ministry of Government of the State. The Civil Defense Agency protects citizens through an Emergency Plan designed to cover all types of risk. Plan mechanisms determine the roles of the agency and other organizations for the coordination of prevention procedures, as well as action to be taken during emergencies.

²⁶ "Plan Zacapoaxtla", Confidential Security Program.

Below, several types of risk to which any individual is vulnerable to are described, as well as the ways that the State Government responds to provide prevention, assistance and support in case of an emergency.

Earthquakes

- Prevention

1. Advice and training for emergency drills
2. Training for the establishment of the FTAA Administrative Secretariat Plan
4. Conferences (Promotion of Civil Defense Plan)
5. Distribution of information materials

- Emergency Assistance and Support

1. Immediate notification of Alert to Secretariat personnel and FTAA Liaison Office
2. Information provided via mass media
3. Designated Evacuation Meeting Point near FTAA Headquarters
4. Immediate Emergency Services Support (First Aid, Red Cross ambulances, Fire Department, direct access to ISSTEP State Hospital, etc.)
5. Evacuation transportation provided if necessary
6. Evacuation Procedures are established in the Local Emergency Plan, which includes safety brigades, rescue, emergency supplies and shelter.

First Aid – Medical Emergencies

- Prevention (Currently in Place at Temporary Secretariat)

1. An Emergency Telephone Directory has been provided to all personnel of the FTAA Administrative Secretariat. This directory also includes government telephone numbers, as well as personal (office and cellular) phone numbers of FTAA Liaison Office personnel in order to notify about any situation.
2. First Aid training offered to all FTAA Secretariat personnel
3. All personnel at FTAA Liaison Office, as well as permanent security personnel at FTAA Headquarters receive First Aid training on a regular basis.
4. First Aid kits
5. Paramedic on call at FTAA Headquarters security post whenever FTAA Secretariat is open for business.
6. On-site doctor's office staffed during all vice-ministerial and ministerial meetings.

- Emergency Assistance and Support

1. Immediate availability of emergency services
2. Ambulances have direct access to main entrance of FTAA Secretariat Headquarters
3. Transportation of personnel to Medical Institutions provided
4. FTAA Liaison Office personnel provide follow-up to schedule any additional care needed

Fire

- Prevention

- 1.- Prior coordination with state emergency service providers (Civil Defense Agency, firefighters, Red Cross, police, etc.)
- 2.- Emergency numbers readily available

- 3.- Fire, first aid, and evacuation training of Permanent Secretariat staff
- 4.- Distribution of printed material on fire prevention and what to do in case of fire
- 5.- The FTAA Administrative Secretariat building has been designed with:

Clearly marked security zones
Clearly identified hazardous areas
Clearly identified emergency exits
Extinguishers and other emergency equipment installed throughout the Secretariat building

The following emergency equipment is distributed throughout the current FTAA Administrative Secretariat building:

- First Floor

Reception Area

- 1 Fire hose
- 1 Fire alarm
- 1 Fire alarm switch
- 2 Fire extinguishers in hallway

Business Center

- 1 Fire alarm
- 1 Fire Alarm switch
- 1 Fire hose
- 1 Emergency exit

- Second Floor

- 1 Fire hose next to elevator
- 1 Fire alarm
- 1 Fire alarm switch
- 2 Fire extinguishers in hallway
- 1 Fire hose next to emergency exit
- 1 Emergency exit

Administrative Offices

- 1 Fire alarm
- 1 Fire alarm switch
- 3 Fire extinguishers in hallway
- 1 Fire extinguisher in copy room

- Building-wide

- 47 Smoke detectors throughout the building
- 2 Internal emergency stairways
- 1 External emergency stairway

Plan Popocatépetl

Puebla has developed an extensive action plan in case of any volcanic activity of the nearby Popocatépetl volcano. The Federal Government constantly monitors its seismic activity. It is important to note that the FTAA Headquarters are located outside the established risk area.

Notwithstanding the above, the Contingency Plan for the general population is described below.

- Prevention

The Civil Defense Agency works to create a “civil protection culture” through conferences, courses, seminars, presentations, printed materials, as well as by partial or full drills and exercises that teach the population how to act in the event of an emergency or natural disaster.

In addition to the above, the local media and the FTAA Liaison Office will maintain personnel informed on the steps to be followed during an emergency.

- Emergency Assistance and Support

All government agencies involved with the Contingency Plan coordinate efforts. The plan consists of identification of risk areas, design and maintenance of evacuation routes, transportation for people inside risk areas, and shelters for the temporary lodging of affected individuals and families.

C.3.4 Other Prevention Programs

The State Coordination Council of the National Public Security System, through the Office of Citizen Participation and Crime Prevention, develops and provides preventive training programs, and presentations to involve the community in its citizen safety program.

Public Safety Program (Crime Prevention)

Objective: To enable law enforcement and civil defense authorities to provide timely and effective services within the State while establishing quality controls through supervision systems and control of operating procedures.

Public Security Program (Assistance of Public Safety)

Objective: To maintain the public order, crime prevention and combat, as well as establishing a favorable atmosphere of security that contributes to productive development.

Road Traffic Education and Defensive Driving Program

Objective: To create a new driving attitude that identifies and involves the human being within the social and natural environment based on the universal value of respect. Generate consciousness towards pedestrians, drivers and passengers that, in the long term will contribute to reduce the number of car accidents in the State of Puebla. The aim is to provide society the knowledge needed on the road, while respecting traffic rules and regulations.

Highway Patrol Program

Objective: Provide higher security to persons and their goods in the State, through permanent highway patrols. This aims to reduce and avoid crimes committed on the State highways. The final goal is to join forces with other public security agencies in the protection of society.

D. Human Resources

Puebla's professionalism is the result of a solid education provided by State and Private Institutions. Competence levels are as high as those in the continent's largest and most innovative cities.

Puebla has turned into a permanent source of highly qualified human resources in the electrical and electronic industries, providing personnel for highly specialized IT companies. The National Institute of Astrophysics, Optics and Electronics (INAOE) decided to establish its headquarters in Puebla in order to prepare world-class specialists

Due to the presence of many Europeans and North Americans, Puebla offers bilingual education at the German and American schools, to mention just two. These institutions are of the highest academic level, and are equipped with modern technology. Moreover, these institutions add to a multicultural atmosphere.

Puebla has a highly specialized work force that guarantees an excellent quality of work. A positive attitude, receptiveness and adaptability have created a competitive professional and technical work force.

E.2 Health Services

Both public and private health services are top quality. In addition, specialist services are available in Puebla, as well as in Mexico City.

The State of Puebla gained the “Universal Coverage of the Panamerican Health Organization” certificate. This means that no individual is excluded from Basic Health Services. The hospitals of the State offer the following:

- Emergency treatment
- Specializations
- Top quality modern services
- All-inclusive hospital plans
- State of the art technology

Additionally, Puebla obtained certification of the General Health Council for 12 of its hospitals. They include “Hospital del Niño Poblano” (Puebla Children’s Hospital), “Hospital Betania”, and “Fundación Tamariz” (Tamariz Foundation). Other hospitals include²⁸:

- Sociedad Española de Beneficencia de Puebla (Puebla Spanish Society of Beneficence)
- Hospital UPAEP (Popular Autonomous University of the State of Puebla)
- Hospital BUAP (Benemeritus Autonomous University of Puebla –Specialized Burns Unit)

Mexico City also has excellent hospitals equipped with the latest technology. Among the best hospitals, those with an entirely bilingual staff stand out:

Hospitals with entirely bilingual staff are found in Mexico

- Hospital ABC (American British Cowdray Hospital)
- Hospital Ángeles, located in Pedregal (South of the city)

E.3 Religious Institutions

E.4 Quality of Education

Puebla characterizes itself as being both a national and international center for higher education, in accordance with the fast paced world we live in today. It is home to an endless number of public and private institutions of higher education and world wide prestige that encompass bachelor's, master's, and doctorate degrees in all areas. The city has more than 118 thousand Mexican and Latin American students, attracted by its universities and research centers, in addition to the peaceful atmosphere of a medium sized city.

E.4.1 "Benemérita Universidad Autónoma de Puebla (BUAP)" – Benemeritus Autonomous University of Puebla

The Benemérita Universidad Autónoma de Puebla (BUAP) has its origins in the XVI century, when the first religious order of the Company of Jesus arrived in Puebla. The Order's main belongings consisted of books brought from Spain that were transferred to the recently conquered territories of the Americas.

Puebla has been considered an Educational Center of great importance in Latin America, since the XVI century

When the Seminary School of San Jerónimo was founded in 1578, these books constituted the first library.

The founding of the School of the Holy Spirit in the current "Carolino" Building marks the beginning of the Puebla's State University.

Numerous students are attracted by the BUAP's high academic quality at low cost, especially to its medicine department, which accepts students from all Latin America.

Puebla has become an enviable academic option, generating an astounding amount of professionals; unequaled in the entire country. Its graduates are usually the best paid in the State, working in public, private, and international institutions.²⁹

Numerous scholarships are available in Puebla, as well as many international exchange programs with prestigious universities

E.6 Cultural Atmosphere and Recreation

E.6.1 Culture and Tourism

The City of Puebla was declared a “World Heritage Site” in 1987 by UNESCO. Founded in 1531, it is a jewel of the world’s architecture. The magnificent outline of the city has given rise to the legend that angels themselves built it. Puebla is full of life and movement, combining an indigenous past, the legacy of colonization, and revolutionary movements along with modern expressions of art and culture.

Puebla is recognized internationally for its:

World-Famous Cuisine

Puebla’s culinary tradition originated from the blending of two cultures; the Prehispanic and Spanish, as well as with French and Eastern influences, which gave it a unique touch and a distinct taste.

- MOLE POBLANO: Proudly originated in our state and is a national dish.
- CHILES EN NOGADA: Baroque dish par excellence.
- ANTOJITOS MEXICANOS (MEXICAN SPECIALTIES): Chalupas (corn tortilla with chicken and salsa), molotes (fried corn patty with cheese or beef stuffing, cream and salsa on top), cemitas (regional sandwich with avocado, cheese, beef or pork, with the traditional papalo leaf), pipián verde (special green sauce poured over chicken), chancas (fried corn patties stuffed with beans, salsa on top), guajolotes, tinga, cuitlacoques, gusanos de maguey (Maguey worm), and escamoles (Fried Ant eggs).
- TRADITIONAL SWEETS: A true pleasure for the palate, like tortitas de Santa Clara (Saint Claire cookies), camotes (flavored sweet potato), pepita candy (Caramel-covered Pumpkin Seed), jamoncillos (flavored pumpkin seed candy bars), Crystallized fruits, gaznates, and macarrones

Talavera Ceramics and other Beautiful Arts and Crafts

- TALAVERA: The production of Mexican Talavera began in the XVI century, during Spanish colonialism. However, it was during the XIX century, that the production of this beautiful product greatly increased, due to priest Don Miguel Hidalgo's support.
- TEXTILES AND EMBROIDERY: Each ethnic group in Mexico represents their ideas and concepts of the world through textiles. The weave or warp, made with cotton thread or flax with different types of technology, colors, and designs, formed the diverse symbolism and iconography of each ethnic group.
- ONYX STONE: A well known Prehispanic town of the valley of Tepeaca is Tecali, whose name signifies "house of stone". An abundance of onyx and alabaster workshops line the streets, as well as stores that sell these artistic products.

Colonial style architecture with 2,600 structures throughout the City

- CASA DE LOS MUÑECOS (HOUSE OF THE DOLLS): Built in 1792, this construction is one of the most peculiar examples of civil baroque style in New Spain and of the wonderful use of Talavera ceramics to decorate the outside of buildings with lay themes.
- PALACIO MUNICIPAL (TOWN HALL): Built on the old Spanish authority building. The current image it presents dates from the beginning of the XX century, with a strong reminiscence of the neoclassical architecture of the period of Dictator Porfirio Díaz. The style was also inspired by French architecture which was fashionable at that time. In the interior houses a courtyard with a beautiful marble staircase.
- CASA DE ALFEÑIQUE (HOUSE OF ALFEÑIQUE): This eighteenth century house is one of the most interesting in the city. It owes its name to the abundant and fine ornamentation of white "argamasa" which looks like the famous sugar candies made in Puebla called "alfeñiques".

- TEATRO PRINCIPAL (MAIN THEATRE): It opened in 1760 with a design similar to that of the old theatre of Mexico City. It was rebuilt in 1920 and acquired its name that same year. In 1941 it was remodeled, preserving a strong essence of the time of the Viceroy, it is one of the oldest theaters still in use in America.
- EXHACIENDA DE CHAUTLA: The Hacienda of San Antonio Chautla reached its splendor in the last fourth of the XIX century when it was handed over to Eulogio Gillow and Zavala. At that time it included 6 ranches and 4 electric generators, as well as, plots of maguey which turned it into a powerful Pulque production center. Gillow was ambitious and tried turning the hacienda into a smaller version of Versailles.
- EXHACIENDA DE LOS VIRREYES: The Hacienda of San Antonio Virreyes is located about 88 kilometers from Puebla. It is not the typical example of the larger Haciendas but it impressively demonstrates the splendor of the Haciendas in those days. Virreyes was at first a lodge, which was part of a trade route departing from Mexico City, passing the state of Tlaxcala, making its way through Puebla heading towards Jalapa, and finally the ports of Veracruz.
- FUERTE DE LORETO Y GUADALUPE (FORT LORETO AND FORT GUADALUPE): A complex system of hermitage established on the mountainside later turned into chapels. This fort is of logistical importance in history due to its location and the role it played in the defense of the city during the battle of Cinco de Mayo in 1862. The Fort of Loreto was occupied by the troops of General Berriozábal while Guadalupe served as base for General Zaragoza.

224 Churches and 10 convents

- CATEDRAL: 1575 – 1640. Its towers at 73.9 meters, of a particular "herreriano" style, are considered the highest in the country.
- CAPILLA DEL ROSARIO: Dates from the second half of the XVII century and constitutes one of the greatest achievements baroque art of New Spain. The chapel is laminated with 22 carat gold over stucco. Ever since its foundation it has been classified as one of the wonders of the world.
- IGLESIA DE SAN FRANCISCO: 1550-1767. It is located in the "Barrio del Alto", the oldest part of the city. It has a lovely Churrigueresque facade made of quarry stone, brick and tile. In the Chapel of the Virgin of the Conquest lies the uncorrupted body of the beatified Sebastian de Aparicio.
- SAN FRANCISCO ECATEPEC: It was built in the seventeenth century and is considered a masterpiece of Mexican baroque style. It is the maximum expression of the work of native builders and potters of Puebla, who masterfully covered the facade with handmade ceramic tile using mainly Talavera earthenware. The interior has fantastic plaster decorations.
- SANTA MARIA TONANZINTLA: It means "the Place of our little mother". Its construction began in the XVI century. It is one of the richest jewels of exuberant Mexican baroque. It was constructed by the hands of the natives who modeled plaster to capture their own universe. In it they created a Mexican iconographic model made up of dark-skinned angels, niches with feather headdresses, and above all tropical fruits and cornstalks.

- LA CONCORDIA Y PATIO DE LOS AZULEJOS: An architectural ensemble created by the church of the Concordia, famous for its tile-decorated patio. This temple is an example of baroque Poblano in its classic slope that is characterized by the structure of the front piece built in stone.
- EXCONVENTO DE SANTA ROSA: In 1683, Friar Bernardo de Andia transformed the Sisterhood of Santa Ines into a convent. This congregation remained in the building until 1740, and from then until 1861 it was the convent of the Dominican nuns of Santa Rosa.

Its Archaeological Sites

- ZONA ARQUEOLÓGICA DE CHOLULA (Archaeological zone of Cholula): At the time of the Conquest, Cholula, was not only an important commercial center, but the seat of the Quetzalcóatl cult. Its pyramids are dedicated to the God of the Rain Chiconahui Quiáhuatl. Its base, the largest in the world, measures 450m on each side. This precious city symbol was built pyramid-upon-pyramid, as was custom that each new generation marked by the solar cycle should cover the pyramid with adobe and start a fresh pyramid over the older one. For this reason, when Cortes arrived in Cholula the pyramid was already covered. Most of the structures viewed today were mainly used for religious reasons. The murals conserved in some of the buildings represent story narrations.
- YOHUALICHAN: The cultures inhabiting the Gulf of Mexico extended their reign to attain the higher regions of the northern sierra. The development of the city of "Tajin" marked the height of the entire region in such a way that Yohualichan served as a satellite of that metropolis. Yohualichan reached its golden age from the IV until the VI century of our era. However, the culture later declined along with the classic period towards the middle of the VIII century.
- CANTONA: A complex prehispanic city, whose geographic location played an important role in the area of the central highlands of Mexico both culturally and temporarily. Cantona is one of the few cities in old Mexico whose whole urban development was richly constructed. It was first inhabited during the late classic period, reached its splendor by the epic-classic period and finally vanished in the early post classic period. It was actually one of the most urbanized cities of pre-Hispanic Mexico and the biggest and most influential city of the central highlands during the epic-classic period.

Cultural Events

The Ministry of Culture, Ministry of Tourism, as well as the City Government organize ongoing cultural activities with the best of national and international representations of music, visual arts, cuisine, dance, theater, literature, international cinema, and workshops for the general public. Numerous cultural activities are also organized by academic institutions (public and private) of higher education.

Symphony Orchestra

The creation of a symphony orchestra had been a desire in the State since 1903, when the reform process of musical education began in the country. This process expanded with the founding of the State Conservatory in 1916. Today the new Puebla Symphony Orchestra offers cultural seasons during spring, summer, autumn and winter. Very soon the orchestra will have a new home in the new state-of-the-art XXI Century Theater in the City of Puebla.

World-Class Museums

- MUSEO AMPARO (AMPARO MUSEUM): This museum is dedicated to the memory of Mrs. Amparo Rugarcía de Espinosa Iglesias. It is located in what was once part of the San Juan de Letrán hospital, a Virgin Girls School and a colonial house. It is noteworthy due to its exhibition style, adapting colonial spaces for the exhibition of archaeological and artistic pieces. It is counted among the finest museums of its kind in Latin America and contains a complete collection of visual and audio information. It houses invaluable pieces whose origins are traced back to pre Hispanic times, as well as contemporary times. The pre-Columbian series constitutes one of the most important collections in Mexico.

- BIBLIOTECA PALAFOXIANA (PALAFOXIAN LIBRARY): One of the most ancient and worthy libraries of Mexico located on the upper level of the "Casa de la Cultura" in Puebla, next to the Cathedral. It gained its name from its founder, the archbishop Juan de Palafox y Mendoza, who donated his private library for the use of two schools. In 1836 this library accounted a number of 12,536 books, the vast majority written in Latin. Today there are some 43,000 books in its inventory.
- MUSEO DE ANTROPOLOGÍA E HISTORIA (MUSEUM OF ANTHROPOLOGY AND HISTORY): This museum was founded in 1962 and is divided into 3 sections: the library, the hall dedicated to Diego Rivera, and a complex in which collections organized thematically and chronologically are presented. The most interesting highlight might be a colossal sculpture of Saint Christopher, dating back to the XVII century.
- MUSEO IMAGINA (IMAGINE MUSEUM): The interactive museum IMAGINA is a place where children can, learn, experiment, explain and feel. It is hands-on path to understanding the world. IMAGINA represents a new form of teaching at all levels, using games as a tool for education designed for the whole family.

Cultural Celebrations, Fairs, and traditional events celebrated by the people of Puebla

Civic Celebrations

- 5TH of FEBRUARY: The anniversary of the Mexican Constitution (1917). Official holiday, government offices closed.
- 21ST of MARCH: Benito Juarez's Birthday.
- 1ST of MAY: Labor Day. National Celebration. Marches are held across the country. Government offices closed.
- 5th of MAY: Anniversary of the battle of Puebla (1862). The most important civic and historic celebration in the state. In every city and town parades and special events are held to commemorate. Government offices closed.
- 15TH and 16TH of SEPTEMBER: Celebration marking the beginning of Mexican Independence. The most important civic and historical celebration of the country. On the 15TH at 11.00 pm, the President of the Republic, the Governors of the States and the Municipal Presidents all give the "Grito de Dolores" (The Dolores Independence Cry) and then ring symbolic bells. In 1810, the bells announced the beginning of the fight for Mexico's Independence. On this night the city's main plaza, or Zocalo, fills up with people waiting to hear "Grito de Dolores". The main event on the 16th September is the parade. Government offices are closed on the 16th of September.
- 20TH of NOVEMBER: Commemorates the beginning of the 1910 Revolution. An extravagant sports-themed parade is held. Government offices are closed.

F. Diplomatic Missions from FTAA Countries (Embassies and/or Consulates)

Mexican foreign policy is based on the principles set forth in the country's Constitution, which in turn is a product of our nation's history. These basic foreign policy principles focus on the promotion of fundamental national interests in addition to the creation of an international system that promotes stability, cooperation, and the strengthening of Mexico's relations with other countries.

Throughout its history, Mexico has actively participated in the establishment and operations of international organizations with the express intention of promoting the creation of an international order based on the premise of sovereign equality of states.

Mexico maintains relations with the 34 countries participating in the Free Trade Area of the Americas negotiation process, all of which have embassies and consulates in our country.³²

G. Migration Issues

G.1 Simplified Entry Requirements

The National Immigration Institute (INM) of the Secretariat of Government (SEGOB) has determined that visas and other immigration documents for nationals of all FTAA member countries may be issued directly by Mexico's diplomatic representations abroad.

³¹ Attached is a complete list of restaurants (Annex 8)

³² Attached is a list of Embassies and Diplomatic Representatives. (Annex 9)

G.11. Efficient and Expeditious Entry Procedures

Special Immigration Counter for FTAA Participants

A special immigration counter has been opened at Benito Juarez International Airport in Mexico City to process foreigners with diplomatic passports and accredited FTAA personnel.³³

- Entry fees are assessed in accordance with the Federal Law on Fees and other provisions established by the National Immigration Institute.
- No fees will be assessed for the issuance of non-immigrant distinguished visitor visas.
- No fee is charged to exit the country.

³³ Immigration Counter 9 (AICM) clearly marked "ALCA".

G.2 Immigration Status of the FTAA Administrative Secretariat Personnel

The National Immigration Institute (INM) of the Secretariat of Government (SEGOB) has determined:³⁴

For the personnel of the FTAA Administrative Secretariat

That the associate personnel (staff that work at the FTAA Secretariat in Puebla), all of which hold diplomatic passports, will be issued an official visa by Mexico's diplomatic service, which will grant treatment similar to that given to OAS accredited personnel. The visa shall be valid for two years and permit multiple entries and exits.

G.3 Immigration Status of FTAA Negotiators and Participants

- Foreigners who are accredited participants in the FTAA process shall be granted NONIMMIGRANT DISTINGUISHED VISITOR status.
- As such, they shall be granted multiple entry and exit privileges and issued a FM3 visa valid for 180 days and renewable for the same period at no cost.
- The Regional Office of the INM in Puebla will handle visa extensions of duly accredited FTAA Participants.
- No fees shall be charged in connection with the determination of nonimmigrant distinguished visitor status.³⁵

G.4 Immigration Status of Immediate Family Members of FTAA Personnel

- Immediate family members of FTAA personnel (spouses and minor children) shall be granted an official visa with the same treatment accorded to FTAA personnel.³⁶
- Children of foreigners carrying diplomatic passports shall be documented by Diplomatic Representations of México until the age of 25.

H. Financial and Other Resources

- The Mexican Government currently provides facilities built exclusively to house the temporary FTAA Secretariat and will continue to offer these same facilities for the Permanent Secretariat. The Secretariat building already has all of the necessary facilities to house an international organization.
- Moreover, the Mexican Government will not charge for the use of these facilities as the permanent headquarters of the FTAA Secretariat. The following is a detailed description of the buildings facilities.

H.1 Building Location

The FTAA Headquarters complex was built on lot number 6 of the “Paseo de San Francisco” development, its central location makes it easily accessible from Boulevard Héroes del 5 de Mayo and streets 8 Oriente, 10 Oriente, and 14 Oriente.

Built in Paseo de San Francisco in downtown Puebla, The Secretariat is easy to get to yet safe and quiet, situated between a pleasant pedestrian walkway and a tranquil public park. The facilities are also easy to secure due to their location in an exclusively pedestrian area some distance from any main thoroughfare and a 24-hour security presence at the main entrance.

The building was built in the colonial area of the city, protected by the National Institute of Anthropology and History (INAH), on top of ruins that remain visible today thanks to an ingenious architectural design merging the old with the new.

The Secretariat’s location, next to the Convention Center of Puebla within the city’s historic district, put it close to restaurants, hotels, and parking.

III. Additional Commitments

A. Government Liaison Office between the FTAA Administrative Secretariat and Local and Federal Authorities

The City of Puebla is the privileged host of the temporary FTAA Headquarters. We are honored to welcome delegates from 34 countries located in North, Central, South America and the Caribbean. We also proudly welcome the representatives of the Inter American Development Bank (IDB), the Organization of American States (OAS) and the Economic Commission for Latin America and the Caribbean (ECLAC).

Accordingly, the Government Liaison Office was created and is located adjacent to the FTAA Secretariat Headquarters building.

A.1 Our Mission

- Provide professional, efficient assistance to visiting participants of the negotiations as well as the Secretariat's permanent staff residing in Puebla.
- Promote Puebla internationally

During their stay, visitors who come to the state to participate in the FTAA negotiations will receive assistance from our Office. Our office is here to help participants get to know Puebla and assist in the following areas:

- Immigration
- Education
- Health services
- Legal advice
- Assistance with State and Federal Government Procedures
- General and personalized services
- Activities organized by the Liaison Office
- Cultural events, entertainment, and recreation

B. Agreement regarding the legal status of the FTAA Permanent Secretariat and its staff, including privileges and immunities

The Mexican Government offers the necessary facilities for the establishment the FTAA Permanent Secretariat. Its legal personality will depend on the type of secretariat established.

The FTAA Administrative Secretariat currently functions as a trusteeship, established November 14, 2002, by the Settlor, the Secretariat General of the Organization of American States.

C. Entry and Exit Requirements, such as Visas for Delegates and Staff Hired by the FTAA Permanent Secretariat

For information on the entry and exit requirements for delegates and Secretariat staff, please consult Section II, paragraph G dealing with immigration requirements.

D. Other Relevant Commitments and Information for Ministers to Consider during the Selection Process

D.1 Headquarters Building

The FTAA Administrative Secretariat is currently housed in a building designed specifically for the FTAA negotiating process. The facilities are provided free of charge in commodatum, as agreed in a contract signed on July 1, 2003, which envisages in its second clause the extension thereof by prior agreement of the parties. This clause would allow the Secretariat to continue operating in its current facilities.

D.2 Puebla Hermanos Serdan International Airport

The State has a modernization project and Master Plan for the Puebla Hermanos Serdan International Airport. The project will offer more facilities to visitors to the state and improve its infrastructure, providing the airport with the capacity to house several international airlines with numerous international destinations.

- Project covers airport development through 2023
- Future capacity of 15 million passengers annually
- 13 million dollars committed to immediate improvements
- 185 million dollars in planned long-term investments
- Feasibility Study and Viable Development Plan concluded with 550,000 dollars in financing provided by the USTDA (US Trade and Development Agency)
